When students aren't feeling well, they may have a more difficult time learning. Providing children with access to health care at school puts them in a better position to learn. Health Centers that are located in a school, where students can receive a range of services including primary care, mental health, and other social support services— without ever leaving school property serve the neediest students and play an important role in making health care more accessible for economically disadvantaged students and others that experience barriers to care.

Here are some examples of ways our consultants may be able to assist your School Health program:

- Assess your current program's effectiveness.
- Develop a program to engage community stakeholders, school leadership, and parents to support school health.
- Analyze your current policies and procedures, and help you to develop new ones.
- Conduct an operational review to help ensure an efficient and more financially sound school health program.
- Conduct a workflow analysis to help improve efficiencies in clinical work processes.
- Recommend key metrics for continual operational and quality monitoring.
